

Figure 1. Map of the northern shelf of the British Isles with the area in the northern North Sea (bold red line) anticipated to be surveyed during the anglerfish survey in October and November 2007 using a chartered commercial vessel.